DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT

JAMES MASSEY EXPIRES AT HIS HOME AFTER MANY YEARS OF USEFULNESS.

James Massey one of the oldest residents of Pensacola, and a highly respected citizen, expired yesterday at his home, after a short illness. While he had reached an advanced age death came rather unexpected, as he had been enjoying good health for some time. Mr. Massey had reached the age of 73 years. He was born in Nottingham, England, and moved to this country while a young man, and later came to Pensacola, where he has since resided.

He leaves a loving wife and the following sons and daughters to mourn his loss: Miss Annie Massey, Mrs. E. A. Wallace, Miss Emma Massey, Miss Bertha Massey, Mrs. Edmund Fox, Mrs. Thos. Johnson, and Reuben, Frederick, Edward and John Massey. In addition he had a large circle of friends and acquaintances who will learn with regret of his death.

The funeral cortege will leave the family residence, No. 114 North De Villiers street this afternoon at 4 o'clock, proceeding to St. Michael's Church, where the services will be conducted, and from there to St. Michael's Cemetery for interment.

OFFICERS RECEIVE NOTIFICATION OF THEIR APPOINTMENT.

Three of the officers, who participated in the recent primary, yesterday received notification from the secretary of state that their appointment had been confirmed by the senate. These were Judge E. D. Beggs, Judge of the criminal court; Scott M. Loftin, county solicitor, and Thos. F. Britson, custodian of lost lumber and timber. J. Ed. Abercrombie, the harbor master, received a similar notification last week.

It is probable that commissions for these officers will reach here during the course of the next few weeks, when the gentlemen will assume charge of their duties for the new term.

Notices have been mailed to the members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, stating that there will be a regular meeting of the board to-day at noon in the rooms of the body, and all are requested to be present.

St. Andrews Buoy: Rev. Dr. Turner of Pensacola, will preach in the Catholic Church next Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. The public cordially invited. Father Turner is a recent graduate from Rome, of acknowledged great intelligence and his discourse will undoubtedly be full of interest.

The teams representing the Pensacola High school and the Pensacola Classical School played a game of baseball yesterday afternoon at Palmetto Beach, which resulted in a victory for the High School boys by a score of 17 to 13. The batteries were Hannah and Rogers for the High School and Turtle and Brent for the Classical School.

Dave Kinzie, who is connected with the United States engineering department at Point Bonita, California, is in the city on a short visit to his friend Capt. A. E. Johnson, of Fort Barrancas. Mr. Kinzie is a son of Brigadier General Kinzie, retired, who was in command of this district about three years since, and who has many friends here. It is probable that Mr. Kinzie will return to his post of duty to-day.

Last Tuesday night Mr. Walter H. Bliss, of Pensacola, Fla., gave a very interesting entertainment at the school house. He is a young man, only about nineteen years of age, but his performances are far better than some given by men many years older. His manipulations of various articles was very cleverly performed and the title "the young wizard" could well be applied to him. He left Wednesday for points down the A. & P.—Georgiana Enterprise.

A lost language. A monument to a lost language is to be found in the village of St. Paul, near Penzance, in Cornwall, and it is believed to be the only monument in existence which marks the death of a vanished tongue. It commemorates the death of the last woman who spoke in the Cornish language and was erected by a Frenchman. It is a granite obelisk about seven feet high and is built into the churchyard wall, the front facing the highway, where it is plainly discernible by all who pass that way. The upper part is in the form of a Maltese cross. The inscription reads as follows: "Here lieth interred Dorothy Pentreath, who died in 1777, said to have been the last person who conversed in the ancient Cornish, the peculiar language of this county from the earliest records till it expired in the eighteenth century in this parish of St. Paul."

Courtesy to Women. A young woman, says a correspondent, who was passing the evening with the family of Lord Coleridge, the eminent English jurist, was about to start for her home at 10 o'clock when he offered to accompany her. She, with the respect due to his age and with the fearlessness of youth due to ignorance of the dangers surrounding young women, said: "I thank you, sir, but I do not want to trouble you. Can't you find a maid to accompany me?" His manner showed the respect in which he held all women. He said, "My dear, the maid is a woman also." If all men were so truly courteous there would be no complaint on the part of women that they do not receive the treatment they should receive from the opposite sex.

How It Happened. An English lawyer was cross examining the plaintiff in a breach of promise case. "Was the defendant's air when he promised to marry you perfectly serious or one of jocularity?" he inquired. "If you please, sir," was the reply, "it was all ruffled with 'im a-run-in' 'is 'ands through it.'" "You misapprehend my meaning," said the lawyer. "Was the promise made in utter sincerity?" "No, sir, an' no place like it. It was made in the wash-house, an' me a-run-in' the clothes," replied the plaintiff.—Harper's Weekly.

J. B. VAUGHN WAS PLACED ON TRIAL

BEFORE JUDGE BELLINGER ON CHARGE OF MURDER—DECEISION WAS RESERVED.

John B. Vaughn, who was held by the coroner's jury for the murder of young Knowles at Century last Sunday afternoon, was yesterday given a trial before County Judge Bellinger. The decision of the court was reserved until to-day, when it will be rendered.

There were a large number of witnesses in the case, and it was clearly proven that while young Knowles was killed by the bullet from the revolver of Mr. Vaughn, that the latter did not shoot at him but at the party with whom he had been fighting.

It will be remembered that Mr. Vaughn and Mr. Nichols engaged in an encounter near the depot at Century late Sunday afternoon, and that Mr. Vaughn afterwards, fired at Nichols as the latter was running. The bullet went astray and killed young Knowles, who was preparing to leave Century after a short visit to him brother, and who was not even aware of the fact that a fight was in progress.

When all of the witnesses had been examined Judge Bellinger announced that he would reserve his decision in the case until to-day. The defendant was represented by C. Moreno Jones.

Meanings of Some Old Words. Many words once written with dignified motive now cause us to read passages of standard literature with a guffaw. The word "imp" was once a term of high honor, but how now sounds the line from Spenser, "Ye sacredimps that on Parnassus dwell!" Over many a grave of the old French nobles may be read the line, "Here lies that noble imp." A sacred poem, written by Gascoigne three centuries ago, begins a stately address to the posterity of Abraham with the words, "O Abraham's brats," brat being then a word of stately meaning. Opening an old dictionary at random one day, my eye happened to fall on the word "tragedy." A note explained that it comes from a Greek word which means "a goat song," because the oldest tragedies were exhibited when a goat was sacrificed or given as a prize to the best actor. The word "infant" means literally "not speaking." Have you a pug dog? Did you ever think his face looks like that of a monkey? The monkey he most resembles is the pug monkey, which gets its name from Pug or Puck, as Shakespeare writes, the sprite of mischief.—London Queen.

A French Custom. In France a newly married couple do not have the ordinary bridal calls made upon them. Instead, garbed in their best bride and groom pay visits to all their married friends. Imagine a shy woman's embarrassment when she must call upon total strangers—especially if she marries away from her own neighborhood or her husband has a country house in a different quarter.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The First Bicyclist. Dr. Church of Birmingham was the first person who, in my youth, contrived a bicycle and rode upon it in the town, which excited more consternation than a Southerner with his beard. He was an able physician, but his harmless innovation cost him his practice. Patients refused to be cured by a doctor who rode a horse which had no head and ate no oats.—Holyoke's "Bygones Worth Remembering."

Working on His Life. "Well, John," said the eminent personage, who was now an invalid, "who is it wishes to see me now—my biographer?" "No, your excellency," replied the butler, "your physician."

"Ah, almost the same thing! He's at work upon my life too!"—Philadelphia Press.

DAWKINS WAS DISCHARGED

DR. A. E. STEVENS AND MARY RICHARDSON HEAVILY FINED FOR SELLING LIQUOR.

In the criminal court yesterday, Judge Beggs presiding, the case of Presley C. Dawkins, who had been arraigned the day previous upon the charge of cruel and inhuman treatment towards a negro convict, who ment towards a negro convict, who ment while en route to the state convict camp, was resumed, and resulted in a verdict of not guilty. Dawkins, who was a guard of the camp of Varn Bros. & Co., was in charge of two convicts last summer, and was escorting them from the city to the camp, when both died, supposedly from the intense heat. He was first tried for manslaughter and later another count was added, charging cruel and inhuman treatment. On both charges he was discharged.

Dr. A. E. Stevens, formerly of Pensacola, but of recent years a resident of Molino, and Mary Jane Richardson, the latter colored, were heavily fined by the court for selling liquor without a license. Each was sentenced to pay a fine of $250 and costs, and in default to serve three months in the county jail. In addition a jail sentence of thirty days was imposed.

John Nelson, for practicing medicine without a certificate, was fined $5 and costs or serve 60 days.

Sam Robinson was found guilty of petit larceny and sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and costs or serve 60 days in jail.

A Man Is the Age of His Arteries.

While some persons are in full organic decadence at thirty-five years, some others may not yet at fifty years have undergone the modifications of nutrition which are the beginning of old age. The capacity of a man for violent exertion is determined by the more or less complete integrity of the arterial tissues. In some cases arterial sclerosis is nothing but the gradual and slow consequences of the advance of age, but assumes a rapid pace that makes it a fearful malady. In such cases we can see young persons presenting the same physiological reactions against fatigue as the elderly man. One of the first symptoms of that acute aging of the arteries which is called arterial sclerosis is the dyspnoea of effort. All elderly men are in different degrees tainted with arterial degeneracy, and all ought to avoid excessive muscular effort if they would not wear out their arteries before the time—that is, would not grow old prematurely—for every man is "of the age of his arteries."

Friday and Thirteen.

In Great Britain there are two particular superstitions which have probably the largest following—that Friday is an unlucky day and that thirteen is an unlucky number. Friday's bad character was derived from the fact that it was the day of our Lord's crucifixion, as well as the one on which Adam and Eve ate the forbidden fruit, and likewise the day of their death. Sailors have still a strong objection to beginning a voyage on that day, although modern conditions often make it imperative. In Christian countries, too, the superstition of thirteen at dinner being unlucky and that one of the diners will die before the year is out is also of Biblical origin, being revived from the last supper of our Lord with his twelve apostles, but the superstition is much anterior to Christianity. Thirteen at dinner in old Norse mythology was deemed unlucky because at a banquet in the Valhalla Loki once intruded, making the thirteenth guest, and Baldr was slain.—London Globe.

When You Put Milk in Tea.

"The scientific justification for adding milk to tea," says the Dietetic and Hygienic Gazette, "comes from the facts that the tannic acid contained in tea combines with the albumen of the milk to form tannate of albumen, which is practically leather. By drinking tea alone the coating of the stomach is made leathery. But when milk, which contains albumen, is added the molecules of tannic acid select their affinity of albumen from it, and as a divorce is unknown to tannate of albumen the lining of the stomach is less liable to be affected by the tannic acid than it would be if the tea were taken alone."
